SCIENCE '23 VICTORIOUS AT HOCKEY

Close Game Decided in Last Minute of Play.

SCORE: 3-2.

Brilliant Match Well Attended By Supporters.

Before a large and enthusiastic audience of rooters, the Inter-class Hockey Series got away to a flying start yesterday. Spectators declared it to be the fastest and most brilliant exhibition of class hockey ever staged at this university. Science '23 succeeded in securing a hard-won victory over Science '22 by a goal in the last three minutes of the game. The game was remarkably even throughout, no one could pick the winners at any stage of the game. An excellent feature was the lack of any rough play, although players were frequently on hands and knees on the ice. This was due to the very short time afforded for practice prior to the match; some players found difficulty in standing up under comparatively light checks. Most of the checking, however, was hard and snappy. "Jeff" Notman used his body to advantage, but did not seem to find the puck.

The speed of the respective forwards was remarkable considering the late opening of the season. Stevens and McKindsey showed up well for Science '23, and Stevens has the knack of taking the puck and shooting like a howitzer. He had a tough nut to crack in the '22 defence, who played their positions consistently, but he succeeded in putting in the first two tallies for his side. Eddie Crain got one in the last few minutes after taking the puck from centre ice and working through the opposing defence men and shooting from five yards out. This gave '23 the lead, and the Juniors failed to score after a brilliant rally and some hard shooting. Jeff Russell tried for a goal and missed, and Blair Gordon recovered, but could not get away before time was called.

Under the prevailing rules, four substitutes were allowed, and both sides used their spares freely to rest the forwards. Individual criticism would be out of place, because everyone was playing his first match of the season, but there seems to be a wealth of good material on hand to recruit hockey stars from. Considering the short notice, the degree of combination shown by both teams was astonishing, and the spares fitted right into their places. Science '22 deserve credit for the stiff battle they put up just as their opponents merit congratulations on their well-earned victory. After the Examiner has dealt with them, they will have a (Continued on Page 3.)

NEW EXECUTIVE FOR RIFLE CLUB

Annual Meeting in Strathcona Hall at Which Plans Were Made for 1921-22.

The annual meeting of the Rifle Club was held in Strathcona Hall last night (Thursday). A brief revision of the year's work was gone over by R. S. O'Meara.

The treasurer, Johnston, read his report on the financial standing of the Club. His figures show a very creditable balance.

A great deal of credit is due O'Meara and the other members of the executive for the ardent way they worked during the active shooting season. A great deal of difficulty was experienced by them at the beginning of the year and was successfully overcome.

The new executive are already at work arranging for the next season's shoot, the first one of which they hope will be held on the first Saturday after the opening of the College term.

Intimations have been received from Queen's and "Varsity" that they are preparing for an Inter-collegiate shoot next fall.

Officers for the coming year were elected as follows:

Captain—W. F. Emmons.
1st Lieut. Treasurer—J. S. Bieler.
Secretary—E. K. Macnutt.
2nd Lieut.—F. R. Mooney.

DIMINUTIVE DRAMAS HAD BIG SUCCESS

R.V.C. Assembly Hall Completely Crowded.

FOUR PLAYS.

Prof. and Alumnae Excel in Portraying Classical and Middle Age Roles.

Members of the staff of the alumnae scored a decisive success in three "Diminutive Dramas," by Maurice Baring, and "Le Retour d'Ulysse," by Herve Lauvyck, last night.

The Convocation Hall of the R.V.C. was thronged for the performances, which started at 8.30 with a brief address by the President of the "University Settlement," reviewing the purposes, accomplishments and needs of the Society.

The first play, "The Aulis Difficulty," dealt with the difficulties of Agamemnon to persuade his daughter Clytemnestra to offer herself as a propitiatory sacrifice to secure good weather for the Greek expedition against Troy. Odysseus, played by Prof. C. A. Brodie Brockwell, persuaded her by cunning devices to consent to the sacrifice. Agamemnon was played by Prof. R. A. MacLean, Clytemnestra by Miss Agnes James, Iphigenia (Queen of Agamemnon) by Miss A. Muriel Wilson, Calchas (a priest) by Prof. T. H. Matthews, the part of a slave being taken by Mrs. Wilson Irwin. The play was excellently acted.

"Plous Aeneas," starring Prof. S. B. Slack and Miss Marjorie Spier, and introducing Prof. T. H. Matthews as a sailor, drew prolonged applause and greatly amused the audience. Prof. Slack made the most of his part, which was a comic one. His distress as a husband trying to get away from his wife was vividly portrayed. As a King (Aeneas), he went to the extreme of building a whole fleet to take him to Italy on the pretext of founding a kingdom for his son, as well as with the excuses of seeing his brother and of paying a visit to his father's tomb. Miss Spier, as Dido, his Queen, did excellent work, her acting being convincing and natural.

"Le Retour d'Ulysse," featuring Mlle. Lucie Touren, Miss L. Mabel King, Miss May Newnham and Prof. Rene du Roure, was enthusiastically received. The plot centred around the return of Ulysses after ten years' absence, and detailed his dissatisfaction with everything in the house, and with his wife Penelope, portrayed by Mlle. Touren. He is charmed by the friend of his wife, Theano, played by Miss King, and makes a rendezvous with her for the very evening of his return. Penelope very philosophically takes up her embroidery and lets him go. The action of this play is quite interesting. The four actors do unusually well. There seems to be less restraint in this playlet than in the two preceding ones, and there is certainly more acting done.

"Henry VIII"—an amusing skit, concerns the immortal English King and his sixth wife, and centres around the breakfast table. It features two main incidents built around an uncooked egg and the color of Alexander the Great's Horse, Bucephalus. The dialogue is amusing, and Mr. J. A. Taylor as King Henry, provoked many a laugh. Miss Helen Nichol as Catherine Parr had just the right amount of dignity, and gave the old king all that was coming to him. (Continued on Page 2.)

NATIONALS OUTPLAYED MCGILL SIX

Defence of Both Sides a Weak Point.

SCORE: 8-6.

Lack of Combination Lost Game For Red and White.

The McGill sextette suffered their second defeat of the season last night when they were outplayed by Nationals to the tune of 8-6.

Played on perfect ice, the game was necessarily fast, and was interesting to watch. The brand of hockey displayed was not brilliant by any means, however, and, as the score indicates, neither team put up a strong defence.

The French team far outskated their opponents, and, on the whole, had considerable edge on the Red and White squad. The former showed the results of more training than the McGill team, and gave an infinitely better exhibition of team work.

Jim Cully, who made his first appearance of the season, was very obviously out of condition, and had no chance to show any of his old-time form.

Ted Behan played a clever game on the forward line, and his stick-handling was very pretty to watch. He did not obtain sufficient support from the wings, as a rule, and made several spectacular lone rushes.

John Grelery was away off color and failed to show any of his usual brilliance. On the defence, Davis played a fighting game, checking hard and sure.

In the nets, Timmins played only mediocre hockey. At times he blocked and cleared well, but on several occasions he allowed himself to be drawn out of the net and was scored upon with easy shots.

The lack of combination displayed by the whole McGill team was very noticeable, and was one of the most important factors of the defeat.

The National forward line was excellent. They checked well, skated well, and at times played rings round their loose-playing opponents.

First Period.

The game opened with a dash, and Behan's stick-handling brought the crowd to its feet. Play was fairly equal for several minutes, with McGill rushing and Nationals checking hard. Cully could not carry the puck, and when he failed to take it out of danger, Lamarro secured and scored a pretty goal from the side in four minutes. Less than a minute later Behan dropped one into the corner of the net from outside the defence. Gallery made a good rush and made (Continued on Page 3.)

CHESS CLUB IS AGAIN ACTIVE

Plan to Hold Tournament After Mid-Term Exams.

As soon as the mid-term examinations are over, a tournament will be started by the Chess Club, in which it is hoped all the student chess players will take part. The tournament held last year was a decided success, and this one will be run along similar lines.

The players will be divided into three classes—A, B and C—according to their abilities, so that all men will have a fair chance whether they are expert players or not. A man of a certain class playing a person of a higher class will be given a handicap arranged by the executive.

As was done last year, there will be run in conjunction with this a consolation tournament comprised of those losing in the first round.

This system proved a great success last year, where a man of class A won the tournament; a B man was second; and a C man won the consolation—so that all three classes were represented amongst the prize-winners. A notice will shortly be placed on the Union notice-board, where those intending to take part may sign up. It is hoped that all chess players who can do so will avail themselves of this opportunity of entering this tournament. Remember that a man doesn't have to be a chess wizard to enter.

DORMITORIES FOR MCGILL

At last there is a reasonable amount of assurance that we shall have "dorms." The immense importance of this is not easily realized. When one considers the influence for good which dormitories have had and are having at large American universities, it is readily seen that their advent in McGill will be the mark of some far-reaching changes.

The majority of McGill men come from outside of Montreal and indeed from outside of the Province of Quebec. They arrive at McGill as total strangers and do their best to secure the best accommodation which local lodging houses can furnish. This is at no time noted for its unrivalled excellence. In fact many students live in rooms which are neither sanitary nor comfortable and which are scattered over a wide area of the city. Adequate dormitory accommodation would remedy a great many evils which at present cannot but be deplored. In the first place the average comfort of the students would be increased a hundred fold. Imagine how much better it would be to have undergraduates in regular dormitories! Each and every one would enjoy a high standard of comfort at the lowest possible cost. Sanitary principles would be applied in every detail so that student health could be most effectively guarded. Working in immediate conjunction with the Union, dormitories would supply students with a new yet necessary range of wants.

At this particular time, when we are doing our utmost to inculcate a live and wholesome "McGill spirit," or rather to awaken this spirit to an ever-present consciousness of itself, dormitories will mean a great deal. Esprit de corps and all that goes with it will be intensified and stimulated to a degree far beyond any present idea. With students living in dormitories there will be a real community of interest, and a far closer bond of fellowship than has ever been the case before.

Such a condition of affairs leaves no room for sectional prejudice or self-contained cliques. Unity—absolute and untrammelled—this is an essential attribute to a McGill spirit of a lasting and tangible quality. At the bottom of the devotion and seriousness of college spirit rests that vital principle—the utter absence of localism or "small mindedness." McGill is not as honey-combed with this sort of thing so much as many other colleges; yet there is ground for improvement right here. Dormitories are the key to the situation. They solve the difficulty. As a means of drawing McGill men into closer contact with one another—as a means of creating a concrete and definitely moulded public sentiment amongst the undergraduates—dormitories will be of immeasurable value.

THE ANNUAL SCARE

The season of the mid-term exams is fast approaching, and the men who are unlucky enough to have allowed a large quantity of "back work" to accumulate during the first months of college are beginning to cast anxious glances at the calendar. Perhaps, on second thoughts, we should do better to substitute the word "careless" for "unlucky" in the previous sentence. It is really difficult to see any reason other than a total disregard of plain facts for the negligence displayed by so many undergraduates up to the time when the exams come to startle them out of their apathy.

Apart from a few men who have undertaken work in connection with student activities, which claim a major portion of their time, with the inevitable result that their academic work shows a definite falling off, the ones who feel apprehension at the near approach of the testing-period have little claim upon our sympathy. It is impossible that any student at McGill should be ignorant of the certain consequences of the neglect of work which is so prevalent, particularly among the first year men.

In spite, however, of the frequent warnings uttered by those who have had some experience in the matter, it is quite certain that, as in other years, there will be a number of undergraduates to whom the results of the exams will come as a distinct shock. There are always men to be found in every walk of life who require practical demonstrations before they are willing to accept anything; but at college, in connection with the exams at any rate, it is much the wiser course to realize at the start that since we come here to get an education,

NOTICES

Members of executives and others are requested to look under this heading for notices of all futurities. Each notice is absolutely official. The Editor will not be responsible for errors in articles unless the time and date are written out in full when they are sent in.

HOCKEY PRACTICE.

There will be a hockey practice at 6 p.m. this evening for the Senior, Intermediate and Junior hockey squads at the Mount Royal Arena.

CLASS HOCKEY.

Games.

There will be a game this afternoon between Science '21 and Science '24 on the Campus Rink at 5.15 p.m. sharp. As another class practice follows after the game everyone must be on time. G. F. Jones of Commerce '22, will referee the game.

There will be two games on Saturday on the Campus Rink:
10 to 11 a.m.—Arts '21 vs. Arts '24.
11 to 12 a.m.—Arts '22 vs. Arts '23.
Referees will be provided later.

The following games will take place during the coming week at the hours shown. Practices of these or other classes which conflict will be automatically cancelled. Extra hours may be arranged with the Class Hockey Manager.

Monday 17 (5.15 to 6.15 p.m.)—Med. '22 vs. Med. '24.
Tuesday 18 (5.15 to 6.15 p.m.)—Med. '23 vs. Med. '25.
Wednesday 19 (6.15 to 7.15 p.m.)—Dent. '23 vs. Dent. '21-22.
Thursday 20 (5.15 to 6.15 p.m.)—Med. (Semi Final) '26 vs. winners of Med. '23 vs. Med. '25.
Friday 21 (5.15 to 6.15 p.m.)—Dent. (Final) '24 vs. winners of Dent. '23 vs. Dent. '21-22.
Saturday 22—No games.

Medical Examination.

In future every man will have to show his card before going on in a game. The referee will check the list of players with the cards shown before games.

Players may be examined between 12 and 1 p.m. any day except Saturday.

Amendments to Hours.

Owing to an unfortunate omission in yesterday's "Daily" certain misunderstandings arose. To correct any wrong impression the notice in question is cancelled and the following substituted therefor:
Med. '22—Cancel 5.45 p.m. Monday and substitute 5.45 to 6.15 p.m. Tuesday.

The hour 5.45 to 6.30 p.m. on Friday will stand.

Med. '24—Cancel 5.45 p.m. on Tuesday and substitute 2-3 p.m. on the same day.

Sci. '21—Hours will remain as previously arranged. An extra hour from 1-2 p.m. to-day will be available.

Law '23—Hours will remain as previously arranged.

Law '21-22—Extension of hour is cancelled.

Med. '25—An extra hour will be available from 12-1 p.m. to-day.

Eliminated Teams.

Teams eliminated may retain their hours if they so desire. Challenge matches may be arranged between eliminated teams, to be played off in their own practice hours. As there will be in all probability an all-star series later, everyone should keep on the job for the next three weeks.

List of Players.

Lists of players should be in duplicate. Cards may be had from the Department of Physical Education in the Molson Hall, signed by the team manager. One copy to the Department of Physical Education the day before the game and the other to the referee, on the ice. The initials, and with mixed classes, the year, must be on the card without fail. The class and year must also be provided and the positions in which men are to play. This is most important.

H. WYATT JOHNSTON,
Class Hockey Manager.

(Ed. Note.—An unfortunate error was made in handling the notice of "Amendments to hours of practice" in Thursday's issue. The "Daily" regrets any misunderstandings which took place as a result.)

MED. '22.

The Med. '22 class hockey team will hold a practice on the rink in the Hollow, from five-forty-five to six-thirty, Friday (to-day).

UNION HOUSE PICTURE.

The Union House picture will be taken at Notman's at one-fifteen Saturday.

BASKETBALL.

There will be no practice for Junior and Intermediate basketball teams Friday, 14th January, 1921.

All four teams are playing Saturday night and as Molson Hall cannot be used, the games will probably be played on the opponents' floor.

Watch the "Daily" for the announcement of time and place of your game and then be there without fail.

JUNIOR "B" BASKETBALL.

College Clippings

Journalists Advised to Try Newspapers in Japan.

Three to half a dozen journalists were invited to enter the field of English language newspapers in Japan, by Rev. Frank H. Smith, foreign pastor in the Lawrence Methodist church, while he was speaking to the Comparative Journalism class at the University of Kansas. He mentioned several newspapers, and instanced the "Japan Advertiser." "These papers use Japanese writers for interpreters so there is no necessity of learning the Japanese language."

Varsity to Publish Comic Paper.

After much diligent enquiry the "Varsity" reporter located the editor of "The Goblin" as Toronto's humorous monthly is to be called. The editorial office is in Room 202 in a building in University Avenue. The staff list of "The Goblin" includes men and women from every faculty and college in the University, and from the professoriate. Among others, there are contributions from Stephen Leacock, the "Bass Drummer," and the editor of "Life."

Scholarships for Mexicans.

Two annual scholarships of $250 each have been awarded by the University of Rochester for the education of Mexican students. The move comes as a result of a request by the American Chamber of Commerce of Mexico to the various educational institutions of the United States for the education of Mexican students.

Athletic Autocracy.

In an editorial entitled "The Strangle Hold," the Colgate Maroon claims that "Colgate has gradually and unconsciously worked itself into the grip of an athletic autocracy at whose hands faculty and student alike confess utter helplessness. But even with this autocratic and despotic control, our athletic magnates, like King Midas with his gold, desire more and more power."

Women's Life Saving Corps.

Women swimmers of the University of Minnesota have decided to form an individual life saving corps, which will form a part of the National Red Cross Life Saving Organization. Arrangements have been made at the meeting of the Aquatic League to begin plans at once for the formation of one, and possibly two corps of life savers.

Creamery Bookkeeping for Farmers.

The universities of Oregon, Minnesota, Michigan and Illinois have now classes in farm accounting. The course forms a system of bookkeeping for grain elevators and creameries. The Bureau of Markets at Washington has sent the necessary pamphlets and bulletins and asks that the course be tried as an experiment.

Student Honor at the University of Illinois.

The following is an excerpt from the editorial column of the "Daily Illini": We have the honor system at the University of Illinois and its operation has brought about some good results; but it does not go far enough. It confines its operations only to the class room or to written work turned in for credit, and even there it is frequently inoperative. A man may steal or lie or work graft of all sorts. . . he may work all sorts of chicanery at class elections; he may smash all the commandments in the decalogue. . . and still maintain his honor as an undergraduate. Student honor should go further than we have been accustomed to think. We are all of us under obligation to be honest and clean and square ourselves, and we are equally under obligation to see that our neighbors are so. . . Most of us admit our personal responsibility, but unless we are willing to be responsible for our neighbors, whether we agree to or not, as we are for ourselves, we are not good citizens, and honor for us is a mere jumble of sounds.

"The education system in California is the most satisfactory in the United States," says Dean C. E. Chadsey, of the College of Education. Increased revenue and assistance from the state are the only problems confronting the schools of California as well as those of Illinois.

RHYMES OF A CHEAPBOOK.

O my bones they shook in the moonlight.
In the tense grey hush of the moonlight.
And I cocked my guns in the moonlight.
While the Fates decided there.

And I saw my fate in the moonlight.
As the "bones" were shook in the moonlight.

Then I shot him clear thru the moonlight.

For I'd lost a jitney there!

day night please carry it back to the "Daily" office and deposit it tenderly in the top centre drawer of the Editor's desk? It is a Waterman, perfectly good, well behaved, trained to perfection, but not answering to any particular endearment. It's too near exam time to break in a new one, and it's speedy return would be greatly appreciated.

Correspondence

The "Daily" is not responsible for the sentiments of letters published in the correspondence columns. Signed communications from graduates, undergraduates and members of the faculties will be placed in print if they are not of too great length. Correspondents are requested to observe the unwritten law of the newspaper office—that they write upon ONE side of the paper ONLY. No communications will be admitted in this column without the name of the writer being attached, not necessarily for PUBLICATION.

To the Editor, "McGill Daily."

Dear Sir,—

I would like to draw the attention of all those interested in wireless telegraphy or telephony to the possibility of organizing a radio club. I am sure there are many who are interested in this, and I am merely throwing a suggestion to someone who is capable of starting things.

I understand there is a wireless set in the Physics Building practically idle. Could this not be used by the club, partially, at least, as it is in other universities? This would benefit those who are unable to keep up interest while away from home with the wireless world.

Hoping that others interested will express their views, and that soon we may have a "McGill Radio Club."

Yours truly,

H. S. M.

MINUTIVE DRAMAS HAD BIG SUCCESS

Mrs. J. G. Stewart appeared from time to time as a page.

The general direction was under the supervision of Miss May Idler. Miss Mabel A. Brittain acted as stage director while costume and stage settings were the work of Professor Ramsay Traquair. Music was furnished during the intermissions by an orchestra under the leadership of Mrs. Ernest Brown.

The actors, management, and directors deserve the greatest credit for the successful way in which details were handled. Prof. Traquair's costumes, especially, were artistic and correct. The music left nothing to be desired, and the lighting effects were well carried out.

The exact amount netted by the Alumnae Society, under whose patronage the plays were put on, could not be ascertained at the time of going to press, but it is quite large, as the hall was crowded.

ORGAN RECITAL

Students and music lovers should be interested in the programme which appears below which announces a series of four Organ Recitals to be given by Mr. George M. Brewer, F.A. G. O., organist at the Church of the Messiah, Sherbrooke West and Simpson Streets. The first of these series will be given on Sunday, January 16th at 4.00 p. m. All students and friends interested in these recitals are cordially welcome.

When you buy, mention the "Daily."

To Advertisers

There will be no McGill Daily on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week.

This is due to the fact that Examinations are on the tapis.

But we resume on Friday, January 21st.

October Fifteenth.

1912.—Prospects for the coming Track Events were excellent for the Red and White team. The Inter-collegiate Sports that were soon to take place were many, and promised to account for close results.

A committee was formed by the Students' Council to investigate all phases of the disturbance between the McGill students and the Montreal police.

There appeared to be every likelihood that Ottawa College would not again participate in the Intercollegiate Union. In the "Daily" editorial, entitled "A Good Riddance," we find that President Coughlin, of Ottawa College, wired his resignation to Secretary Jack Maynard, and that the College had been negotiating, apparently unsuccessfully, with the O.R.F.U.

1913.—Queen's conferred the honorary degree of LL.D. on Professor McNaughton for his singular ability as an interpreter of the Classics.

There were nine Freshettes in the Medical Faculty of Toronto University at this time, and altogether twenty-five proceeding for a degree.

1914.—Speaking before a large gathering of members of the Western Club, the honorary president, Dr. J. L. Todd, gave many interesting facts concerning the Great War.

That the new medical scheme was well received was reported by the Registrar of the Dominion Medical Council. Sir Thomas G. Roddick, who was knighted in recognition of services rendered in the foundation of this National Council, was the president of the council. Dr. Roddick struggled long and hard to establish a national enregistration of doctors, and even entered politics to learn the workings of the "Inner Circle" at Ottawa.

1915.—At a smoker given in the Union by Science Freshmen, the most important feature was a "movie show." Dr. Barnes showed the audience a new moving picture machine made by the Pathe Company of Paris.

At a meeting of the Corporation of McGill University, a letter was read from the Secretary of His Majesty, King Albert of Belgium, expressing the great gratification with which His Majesty received intimation of the conferring upon him of the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws.

Exemption for Arts students taking drill was the resolution adopted by the Faculty. This was to apply only to men going overseas and those taking the course of training seriously.

1917.—Inter-faculty football was arranged, and at a meeting of the Football Club a schedule was drawn up. The representative team was to be chosen from the men who played in the Inter-faculty Series.

Major R. Tait MacKenzie, R.A.M.C., Arts '89, Med. '92, was named by the Military Hospitals Commission to conduct a survey of its institutions. The Major had created 16 Command Depots in England and had cut down the margin of war wastage to a minimum.

1919.—The Department of Social Service was inaugurated. Professor Dale spoke and maintained the need of truthfulness to the existing facts. Sir Arthur Whitten Brown, who, with Capt. Alcock, was the first to make a non-stop flight across the Atlantic, was to lecture at His Majesty's Theatre on the afternoon of October 21.

October Sixteenth.

1911.—Varsity defeated McGill in a great football struggle by a score of 18 to 11. The playing on the part of both teams was in itself an exhibition.

Records were smashed in the big athletic meet when athletes from Macdonald College starred. Of these, White distinguished himself in the mile run. McDougall broke the college record by throwing the hammer 112 ft. 5 in.

1912.—The McGill Intermediate Water Polo Team defeated the Nautique Team in an exciting exhibition at the new Y.M.C.A. tank by a score of 2 to 0. The McGill aquatic experts won the second game of the season in good style, and so maintained the standard of former years.

Under the heading "Dormitories," the following written in an editorial: "The time is fast approaching when the need for Dormitories at McGill University will become imperative. . . . Not only is accommodation in the vicinity of the College difficult to find, but when found it is frequently unsatisfactory. The houses are only too often very old and dingy and in none too good a state of repair. . . . The need of Dormitories at McGill has long been recognized, and it has been recognized in the extension course, Sir from time to time been reported that there was every probability of their erection in the near future."

1913.—The C.O.T.C. men formed our Indoor Baseball Club, and entered it for the Military League.

The Students' Council voted in favor of the action taken by Dean Moyses for the raising of a subscription for Mr. Thomas Marsh, the bystander who was the victim of the fight between the Montreal police and the McGill students. During the fight Mr. Marsh was struck on the head by a large stone. A doctor's certificate showed that Mr. Marsh had not exaggerated his injuries, and that his eyesight was seriously affected.

1915.—Lieut. Keene, invalided home, gave an interesting lecture on the machine gun.

The Arts Undergraduate Society did good work for the welfare of the students. This first manifested itself in the many improvements in the Arts reading room.

The mighty Tobin, of King Cook fame, after serving in the army, became lonesome and wanted to go overseas to the medical students. Some of the titles that he had received from the Meds. were: Emperor of China, King of the Mexicans, and Kaiser of Germany.

1916.—The Freshmen registered a walk-over at the annual sporting meet when they scored 86 points to the 21 of the second year men. Donnelly won the individual championship.

A large number of McGill men were decorated. Two of them had the coveted Victoria Cross. A medical graduate of '05, Captain Francis Alexander Caron Scrimger, won the decoration for gallant conduct under fire.

R.V.C. girls were reported to be forming a Mock Parliament. The procedure was announced and both parties had outlined their platforms.

1917.—"Got them fixed in the air and everywhere," was what Pte. A. E. Twible told the "Daily" when interviewed. Twible was a member of the 5th University Company, and was back home on furlough.

1919.—The Rev. Charles Mitchell, Bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church for the Dakotas and Minnesota, gave an address at the Presbyterian College. He claimed that Spirituality and Personal Character were essential to the preacher.

October Seventeenth.

1912.—Laval offered its support in the time of trouble with the city police. Laval students paid a friendly visit to McGill and attested their sympathy for the students' side of the case.

M. Dupre, representing the Laval University students, delivered the following short speech from the steps of the Arts Building: "Although we are of a different nationality and attend a college far smaller than yours, if the occasion ever arises, we, the undergraduates of Laval University, will only be too glad to help you resist the assaults of the Montreal police." The "Daily," in an editorial, writes: "Long ago, but well within the memory of the oldest inhabitant, the students of McGill and Laval used to be at war. Six years ago an entente cordiale was established between them, and ever since there has been the best of feeling and friendship."

1913.—A missionary conference was to be held at Kingston. The Y.M.C.A. undertook to meet part of the expenses of students who wished to attend.

Dixie was the scene of a friendly match in golf between the students and the professors.

1914.—At the Inter-year Freshman-Sophomore sporting meet at the M.A.A.A., a small battle was waged. The superior organization of the second year enabled them to carry off the victory. No serious damage was done in the friendly encounter.

Professor Day, Assistant Professor in Physics at McGill, left the University to take up a position as head of the Department of Physics in the Royal Military College. He was one of the most popular lecturers of the staff.

The Rev. Professor Richardson, B.A., B.D., tendered his resignation to the Board of Governors of the Wesleyan Theological College. Professor Richardson had the Douglas Chair of Systematic Theology and was also Registrar of the College.

1917.—The Iliad and Odyssey were the subjects of wonderful sketches by Sir William Peterson in his lecture on Greek Poetry. In the second of his lectures in the extension course, Sir

William brought out well the indispensability of Greek influence in modern times

1919.—Miss Hurlbutt was reported returning from abroad to the R.V.C. on the S.S. Metagama. Strikes about the London wharves delayed an earlier return.

The Cercle Francois held an enthusiastic meeting. Prof. Du Roure was delighted with the large attendance.

October Eighteenth.

1911.—An appeal for culture and the higher standards of education was made by Prof. Herbert J. Rose, recently appointed Assistant Professor of Classics and formerly a McGill Rhodes Scholar. Prof. Rose won the blue ribbon in competition with the keenest classical minds of the British Empire. In his usually happy vein, Principal Peterson introduced the speaker and declared that while the public might hold the opinion that Oxford and Cambridge existed solely to provide careers for the annual boat race, no doubt Prof. Rose would, by his lecture, dispel that idea.

A great asset to McGill students of all the faculties was the Employment Bureau that was put in operation.

1912.—The Students' Council censured both the police and the students. While condemning the actions of the police, the Council put itself on record as severely censuring the conduct of those students who really did start the trouble on St. Catherine Street West, realizing that these students reflected discredit both on the University and on the student body.

1913.—A plot by Sophs to kidnap a Freshman by the name of Hutchison was frustrated by a detective. The Sophs attempted to spirit away the first year president in a cab when the long arm of the law intervened. The Freshman, on seeing the officer of the law coming to him, began to shriek: "Murder! Help! Police! Save me, oh save me! I'm being killed!"

1915.—Dr. Leacock spoke at the first meeting of the Literary and Debating Society. He stated that the society was even more important than lectures, and expressed his surprise that somehow or other it never seemed to get on.

1916.—The Sixth Universities Company gave an attractive trench display in aid of the Montreal Soldiers' Wives' League. Returned soldiers helped the Company show what real trenches looked like.

The Hon. T. C. Norris, Prime Minister of Manitoba, addressed the Hebrew students at the Maccabean Circle on Politics and Its Practical Application.

An appeal was issued for Christmas gifts for the lonely soldiers who were obliged to spend another cheerless Christmas in the trenches.

1917.—At a poorly-attended meeting of the Students' Society, the annual budget was presented by the secretary of the Council. The R.V.C. reported that it had resumed friendly relations with the "Daily" and that it would subscribe.

1919.—About 500 were present at the novel reception afforded by the conversat. The refreshments that were served were of the highest standard.

NATIONALS OUTPLAYED MCGILL SIX

the score 2-1 when he batted in the rebound.

Play was fast and inclined to be rough for several minutes. Timmins saved several difficult shots, and at this time was given very poor support. Laurendeau drew him out of the net and when he fell to the ice he left an open net which the speedy Frenchman took advantage of scoring on.

Nationals continued their intensive attack on the McGill net and Lyall relieved Timmins from a precarious position when he carried the puck up the ice. Behan put McGill ahead six minutes later on a rebound from a shot by Lyall.

Nationals played good combination at this stage, and in a fast piece of play, Gouvermont beat Timmins with a high and speedy shot just before the close of the period.

Second Period.

A minute after the start of play, Timmins misjudged a long shot from A. Lamarre's stick, and the puck dropped into the goal. P. Lamarre added another one shortly, from a scrimmage before the McGill net. Timmins fell, and the puck was scored on an empty net.

Play stayed at the McGill end for some time, and Timmins had to meet a heavy onslaught of shots from all angles. Behan took the puck from his own end and in a brilliant display of stick-handling, tricked his way through the whole National defence, finally passing Gervais with a wicked shot, after working his way well in. Timmins was drawn out of his net again, and Pelletier scored from the side. Nationals were checking very effectively, and the McGill forwards were shooting from outside the defence.

Just before the close of the period Gallery caught Gervais off his guard and slipped a lucky goal in from the side.

Third Period.

Behan tied the score on a long shot less than a minute after play had commenced. Goddard was given a major penalty at this time for scrapping, and the team was somewhat weakened at this very important part of the game.

Timmins with a very weak defence had a very hard time of it for some time. A shot in the corner beat him finally and put Nationals ahead.

Play surged from end to end during the next few minutes, and Behan made some spectacular rushes, which, without any support, were of no avail.

Laurendeau caught Timmins off his balance after a scrimmage, and found the net for Nationals' eighth and last goal.

Behan tried hard to score during the last few minutes, but Gervais put up a sterling exhibition and blocked all kinds of shots.

The final gong sounded with play around centre ice.

The first game of the evening was a fast exhibition between Loyola and Shamrocks, which resulted in a win for the latter.

Loyola put up a strong fight and played better hockey than their opponents at several stages of the game.

Mallen was the individual star of the game and scored two of the three Shamrock goals.

In the first period neither team was able to score and play was fast throughout. Shamrock got in three goals in the second period by spectacular individual rushes. Loyola came back strong in the last period and came close to tying the score. Time ended with the Collegians making fruitless efforts to penetrate the Irishmen's defence.

SWINGS and JABS

(By "Left Jab.")

The following items taken from the "Star" ought to interest the members of the Boxing Club:

"Toronto, Jan. 12—Goldie Gray and Les Black of the University of Toronto and 125 and 158 lb. amateur boxing champions of Ontario respectively, are not experiencing the difficulty in obtaining bouts that many professionals are complaining of.

"The Royal Military College is the latest institution to produce a pair of opponents for the pride of the U. of T., and to test the ability of the H. M. C. lads, Coach Blake is taking both Black and Gray to Ottawa where the bouts are to be held on February 11th."

In view of the above article, it is evident that the Toronto and Queens Universities are paying more attention to Boxing activities than McGill is. Moreover it has been reported by one of our boxers who is a resident of Toronto that the elimination contests have already taken place in the U. of T. and that the boxers there are working out every day. Comparing these two universities with McGill, it is evident that McGill is the slowest as far as boxing is concerned. Toronto has cleaned up several inter-collegiate championships this year, and considering the present state of condition, it looks as if Toronto will run away with the B. W. & F. activities as well. McGill should buck up and start the wheel turning, and with full speed at that, otherwise Toronto will run away with boxing championship again. The boxers need as much support as the hockey and rugby players, and it's about time the University realized this. The sooner the better.

Through our boxing instructor, Jack McBrierty, arrangements are being made with "Moe" Herscovitch, Bert Schneider, and Young Lewis, to come up every Monday and Thursday and help to coach the boxers. This is a splendid idea. By the help of these experienced champions there is no doubt but that the boxers will benefit immensely. "Long" and "Bobby" are working hard in this matter, and if they are successful, the club will be greatly obliged to them.

In response to the call for heavyweights several "hulkies" appeared at the last practice on Tuesday night. They showed up pretty well, and are quite capable of handling their fists in self defence, but they will have to go "some" to gain the Intercollegiate championship.

Sammy Mirsky, champion flyweight of McGill, is back again after spending a long holiday in Ottawa, his home town. He has gained several rounds of weight since he laid off, but while speaking with a "Daily" reporter, he said that he would commence training immediately, and would "do his utmost to do away with that superfluous fat."

The well-known scientist, Pattonson, who is known among the members of the Boxing Club as the "Human Punching Bag," was present at the last practice, and proved to be all that his nickname implied. It must be said to his credit, however, that he is a game boy, who possesses Spartan grit and fortitude.

Clarence Bernstein, who hurt his nose badly, as a result from boxing, was also present at the practice. The little "Hydrogenweight" has remarkable speed and wind, and would surely make his weight if he was a little bigger in stature. Too bad he is not a little taller.

Added To The Professions

By BERENICE C. SKIDELSKY.

What profession? What line of life work? Though these questions have been disposed of by some college men and women at the outset of their college careers, to many, they are still insistent problems as graduation draws near. The students stand at the cross-roads, one signpost pointing to business, the other to the professions. Never before in the world's history has the road to the professions forked off into so many branches. And one of the latest that has been added to the group is one of the most appealing, both because of the work itself, and because of the gratification that comes with worth-while achievement. It is the avenue of "community service."

Maeterlinck has said that "It is the way in which hours of freedom are spent that determines, as much as war and labor, the moral worth of a nation." The leisure time is enormously potent, for good or for ill. And it is the purpose of this new movement, Community Service, to bend it to the former. Its aim is to organize the community for play—to give the members, in other words, such direction as will enable them to make the most of those precious leisure hours wherein their spirits may expand and their personalities flourish and grow vigorous.

Thanks to the labor-saving devices, and legislation, the twenty-four hours of each day are generally divided into three equal periods—for labor, for recreation and for rest. Days gone by provided for the first and for the third, but took no cognizance of the fundamental importance of the second. To-day, however, the term recreation is being analyzed back to its essential and literal meaning, and the process itself recognized as indeed an instrument of "re-creation" that cannot be overlooked.

This new understanding, together with the unprecedented conditions under which modern humans live, has created a wide field for specialized workers who will give proper direction to the re-creative activities. It has thus established a new profession for earnest and intelligent men and women anxious for a constructive part in humanity's progress.

Not only have the people of to-day, taken en masse, more free time, but they have also more money and more temptations and a wider vision which results in more insistent demands on life. They live surrounded by commercial amusements. Theatres, pool-rooms, race tracks, dance halls, baseball games, cabarets and sundry other places of diversion are run in great numbers with a keen eye to profit, and a hit-or-miss attitude in the matter of their reactions upon their patrons.

All these things are well enough in their way, and within their limits; but (with the exception of the dance hall and the pool-room, both often questionable in their moral tone) they provide purely passive forms of recreation, and are therefore not adequate for the full recreational needs of the individual. These needs involve activity as well. A warning has been sounded that the American nation is in danger of becoming a people of "bleacherites," not only as regards the great American game, but this spectacular deliverance have been futile.

Mr. Notman wishes it to be announced that this accident will not in any way interfere with the business of taking the Juniors' photographs as he has other cameras available, and had made provision for just such contingency. The Managing Board of "Old McGill" have decided not to attempt to include the Third Year Chemicals as a group and are having the photos taken individually.

No definite theory has been advanced as to the cause of the accident, but the current talk around the Chemistry Building to-day is that one of the Third Year Electricals was accidentally included in the group.

TOUGH, EH!

She was a sweet young thing, Who said she'd never been kissed. So what I did anyone else would do, I showed her what she missed.

And back home we went, I taught her all I knew But soon a handsome chap she met With money 'Nall—and away she flew.

It's not that I miss her so much, But you all know how it is— So blast the fellow that swipes your girl. After you've made her what she is.

SI, SENIOR!

Freshie—"I need $5 for my caution money, and I have only four."

Senior—"That's easy. Pawn the $4 for three and sell the pawn ticket for $2."

Whale meat will possibly be preserved like salmon this year in New South Wales.

SNOWSHOE CLUB HAS FIRST RUN

Has Decided to Enter Team in Coming Winter Carnival.

This afternoon the Snowshoe Club turned out for the first tryout this season. A number of first class men presented themselves and took part in a very successful run. A number of harriers and track men added their enthusiasm to this run. This latter fact alone goes far in encouraging the hard working backers of this Club and promises an unusually successful season.

There has been some difficulty in reorganizing this activity and in re-viving this once popular winter sport. The recent snowshoe tramp proved that there was an unlimited amount of worthy material waiting for a chance to make good, and showed conclusively that this branch of athletics has by no means passed peacefully away unremembered and without regrets. It is evident that a great deal of attention will be given to snowshoe running this season.

The Snowshoe Club is to be congratulated on its decision to enter a representative team in the Winter Carnival, which will be held in Montreal from January 28th to February 6th. The Nationals and the M.A.A.A. are entering strong teams in this meet. Careful sifting of material must be added to wise training if a team is to be found to win out against these dangerous rivals.

The next trial will be held on Saturday afternoon. Those wishing to take part in this run are asked to meet on the Campus at 1.30. Enthusiasts who have not already turned out will be welcomed and have an excellent chance of making a place on the team.

HEAVEN OR —

The late Bishop of London was once ordered by his physician to spend the winter in Algiers. The Bishop said it was impossible, he had so many engagements.

"Well, my Lord Bishop," said the specialist, "it either means Algiers or Heaven."

"In that case," said the bishop, "I'll go to Algiers."

NOT DEAD.

"Your friend the professor may have a remarkable talent for languages, but there's one tongue he will never master."

"What tongue is that?"

"His wife's."

While words alone cannot be an assault, angry words accompanied by the raising of a hand, apparently with the intention of striking a blow, do constitute a legal assault in England, although the blow may never be struck.

Greater London, with an area of 119 square miles, has an average population of over 4,000 to the square mile compared with Greater New York's average of 19,000 to each of its 300 square miles.
